

THE WASHINGTON COLLEGE PRESIDENT

POST-VISIT ACTIVITY:

George Washington's good character heavily influenced Robert E. Lee. In this exercise students will spell out the traits of having good character with only the word's given vowels. An example has been done for them. On the back students will write a letter to their role model and tell them about their trip to Lee Chapel and Museum. Their letter should include things they both learned and observed.

What You'll Need:

- A writing utensil in order to complete the exercises.

THE WASHINGTON COLLEGE PRESIDENT

Robert E. Lee's hard work on the college and chapel didn't just come from anywhere, nor did his good character, honesty and responsibility. All of these are influences of Lee's hero and role model.

George Washington was one of Lee's role models. Washington, our first president, was friends with Lee's father, "Light Horse Harry" Lee. Washington was hard working, honest and respectful. All of these Lee admired.

Who is your hero or role model? _____
