Known as the City of Lights, Paris is deservedly renowned as Europe’s cultural mecca, beloved for her remarkable architecture and appealing civic design, the wealth of her art collections, and her irresistible cuisine. In addition to private visits to the Louvre and the Musee d’Orsay, our city tour will include the 12th-century cathedral of Notre-Dame-de-Paris, Sainte Chapelle, the Eiffel Tower, and the exquisite Luxembourg Gardens, among other highlights. You’ll also have an opportunity to enjoy independent tours of sites particularly interesting to you, including an optional excursion to Chartres. Paris was built to the human scale, and it invites and amply rewards hours of independent exploration.

In addition to our fine hotel, the package includes two dinners, a lunch during a Seine River cruise, and a daily buffet breakfast, along with round-trip air from Washington, D.C.

Day 3: October 30, 2015. Paris City Tour, D’Orsay museum and Montmartre
Following breakfast and an opening talk, we’ll begin a full day Paris city tour. On our way to the Musee d’Orsay, we’ll pass by Place de la Concorde, Paris’ largest central square, home to the renowned obelisk given to the French by the Egyptians in the 19th century. On our drive along the Seine we’ll pass the Jardins des Tuileries, the Louvre Museum and the Hotel de Ville (the town hall). This impressive building dates back to 1553 and is now the home of the Mayor of Paris. As we cross the Seine, we’ll see Notre Dame Cathedral and Saint-Germain des Prés before arriving at the Musée d’Orsay. Located in a beautiful Beaux Arts building, formerly the Gare d’Orsay railway station, the Musee d’Orsay is now home to more than 4,000 19th-century artworks by masters including Van Gogh, Monet and Rodin as well as the masters of French Impressionism Manet, Renoir, Cézanne, and Gauguin. Following our visit we’ll drive to the base of the Eiffel tower and board our boat for our luncheon cruise on the Seine. After a welcome apéritif we’ll enjoy a tasty lunch while listening to informed commentaries on the sites along the Seine River. Our afternoon tour includes Montmartre, the Eiffel Tower, the Arc de Triomphe, and Champs-Élysées and its luxury boutiques. As we meander through Montmartre’s narrow streets, once home to several Impressionist painters, our guide will discuss the lives and works of the artists who lived and worked here. We’ll pass the Moulin Rouge cabaret that inspired Toulouse-Lautrec’s distinctive style of painting. We’ll conclude our tour at the Basilique du Sacré-Coeur with its spectacular view over Paris.
Overnight: 4* Hotel Astor, St. Honoré, Paris

Day 4 October 31, 2015 – ½ day tour of Paris and Louvre Museum
Our day begins with breakfast and a talk in the Hotel. This morning we’ll set off with our guide on a short walking tour of the Marais, one of Paris’ oldest districts. We’ll see the Pompidou Centre (Centre George Pompidou), whose exterior design has made it a top Paris attraction. The Marais was the site of the first Jewish settlement in Paris and remains the center of the Jewish community today, including one of the best examples of Jewish culture today, the cobbled Rue des Rosiers, home to Jewish bakeries, bookshops and kosher food outlets. The Marais is an excellent choice for further exploration during our free time in Paris. We then continue to the Place des Vosges, a highlight of the Marais. Once home to the famous French writer Victor Hugo, Place des Vosges is considered one of the oldest and most beautiful squares in Paris. Afterwards, we board our coach for our private tour of the Louvre. Our tour will focus on the Museum’s highlights—an educational audio guide is included. Among the highlights are the iconic Greek statue Venus de Milo, The Coronation of Napoleon, Leonardo’s famously enigmatic Mona Lisa, sculptures by Michelangelo and paintings by Raphael, Rubens and Rembrandt, and our own Washington and Lee’s Cy Twombly’s ceiling in the Salle des Bronzes. At the end of our guided tour, we’re free to continue exploring the Louvre or return to our hotel.

Day 5 November 1, 2015: Opera Garnier - Paris
Following breakfast in the Hotel we have a full day at leisure or the option to tour the Paris Opera Garnier. Those on the optional tour will depart the hotel with our guide and walk to the “Eglise de la Madeleine,” a Roman Catholic Church with a very atypical design. Napoleon wanted the church to be a pantheon in honor of his armies. Before entering through the two monumental bronze doors, we can admire the Corinthian columns which surround the building. Inside are sculptures, paintings and the famous neo-Byzantine mosaic and a magnifcent church organ. The Opera Garnier is Paris’ main opera house and one of the largest in Europe. Officially named Palais Garnier in recognition of its luxurious grandeur and elaborate décor, the opera house is a joy to explore. Our tour includes an expert guide for a 90-minute walking tour of the beautiful Neo-Baroque building. Our guide will point out the most notable features, including the Chagall ceiling and grand staircase, while explaining the opera house’s intriguing history. We can then return to the hotel or continue our free time in Paris from the Opera House. Optional tour cost: $50 per person. Note: This tour begins at the hotel and ends at the Paris Opera House. This is a walking tour and no coach transportation will be used.
Overnight: 4* Hotel Astor, St. Honoré, Paris

Day 6 November 2, 2015 Full day at leisure or optional excursion to Chartres.
Today’s optional tour presents an opportunity to visit Chartres. We’ll leave our hotel after breakfast for a 90-minute drive by coach to Chartres. Here, we’ll enjoy a guided visit of the renowned Cathedral, a well-preserved UNESCO World Heritage site from the 12th century. Considered one of the finest examples of French Gothic architecture, this historic church features flying buttresses and imposing spires, as well as stained-glass windows considered the most complete and best preserved of their kind. Our guide will explain the construction and design of this magnificent cathedral, its many important uses in the Middle Ages, and its continuing function as a Catholic pilgrimage site today. Later, we’ll stroll through the historic city center, wander winding streets and alleyways, browse shops, and admire the half-timbered houses along the narrow western channel of the River Eure. Lunch will be on own and we can recommend “Le Grand Monarque” brasserie, just a short stroll from the cathedral. After our tour of Chartres and free time, we’ll return to our coach for a relaxing drive back to Paris. Optional tour cost $130
