

Iced Tea, Please! Cha, Dōzo!

In Japan, children and adults drink hot tea with their meals.
Is that true for your family?

Help your class conduct a survey of what their families drink. Choose one day. List all the beverages that every person in your home drinks that day. Your list might include hot tea, iced tea, coffee, hot chocolate, milk, soda, fruit juice, juice drinks (juice plus other ingredients), sports drinks, smoothies, wine, beer, and water.

Use this chart to record who drinks what in your home.

NAME	Breakfast	Lunch	Dinner	Between Meals	Before Bed

Combine your data with the data from your classmates. Make a bar graph together to show your results.

Analyze your data. Do you see any patterns? What drink is most popular at different times of the day? What age person (baby, child, teen, parent, grandparent) is most likely to drink it?

Are there special beverages that only one or two families drink? Talk about why that might be.
